

Up From the Ashes- New Demon Themed Campaign

Posted by Slayer of Cliffacers - 26 Aug 2013 19:34

After completing Reign of Death, a sequel to Darklords Rising starring the High Elves I am now set to start on production of another additional campaign for Warlords III starring one of the 23 factions of Etheria that do not yet have a campaign. I had a plotline for Dark Elves, Barbarians and Demons, I polled the community and the result of my poll led me to settle on Demons.

Up From the Ashes

Up From the Ashes is a campaign featuring the demons and is both a sequel to the Warlords III Campaign Horn of Kor and the prequel to Warlords Battlecry II campaign (mentioned in game as the War of the Second Battlecry).

It begins in the ruined Lysean Empire after the Orcs of Kor have departed from Lysea, leaving Lysea in chaos and much of the population starving. At the same time like many decadant great empires in their waning years they dabbled extensively in dark magics. This combination of factors has created a land ripe for demonic infestation.

=====

Re: Up From the Ashes- New Demon Themed Campaign

Posted by Slayer of Cliffacers - 03 Dec 2013 02:56

Folks. I'm presently doing a playthrough of my old campaign in order to patch all the bugs and make improvements. It may be a bit longer until this campaign is finished, but everyone will be getting an updated, patched version of the old Reign of Death Campaign.

=====