

I am still praying for Warlords 5

Posted by greenkhan - 20 Sep 2017 03:00

I really wish something would be done to get this in action. I want to be a part of this in whatever way i can. Warlords 3 DLR was the best PC game I ever got my hands on and NEVER ever got bored of it. The custom ability to design your army and random maps MADE this game awesome and unlike any game ever. Just sharpen up graphics, make a battlenet, and tweak things and it's perfect.

=====

Re: I am still praying for Warlords 5

Posted by Spiderman - 22 Sep 2017 00:35

Steve's very busy with Gems of War, so another Warlords probably isn't happening anytime soon.

=====

Re: I am still praying for Warlords 5

Posted by greenkhan - 22 Sep 2017 01:23

Well doesn't that just suck. I wish we could put a team together to make it ourselves lol. Hasnt Steve made enough money yet? 🙄

It's 2017 and I still havent played a game that was more Addicting that Warlords 3 DLR. Best Game Ever!

=====

Re: I am still praying for Warlords 5

Posted by Vissavald - 19 Oct 2017 09:48

GoW got so many negative feedback recently on its Steam forum when devs introduced the new engine along with dubious decisions in game design and mechanics, that I thought Steve finally left the team or something 🙄
And judging by that feedback the people began to get bored with GoW.

Maybe, it would be not so bad option for Steve, to continue to get some per cent revenue from GoW while trying to come back to us at last.

=====

Re: I am still praying for Warlords 5

Posted by Spiderman - 20 Oct 2017 02:15

You gotta keep in perspective that the people complaining about it are just a small (but yes, vocal) percentage of the player base.

He hasn't left the team; he posted in one thread on the GoW forums about making some fixes.

Another dev made a telling comment that if you read between the lines, the new UI was a directive from the publisher, not the devs themselves. But they're stuck with it, they're not going back (they said so), so the best that can happen is incorporating some player suggestions on improving it.

So if anything, Steve is going to have his hands full even more trying to make fixes and improve it.

=====

Re: I am still praying for Warlords 5

Posted by Vissavald - 20 Oct 2017 10:52

Well, you seem more informed than I. I don't play GoW and don't plan to, Puzzle-Everything folly was enough for me. And I just check GoW Steam forum episodically reading it diagonally.

So, maybe it's not the time yet, for Steve to return. But I do really hope that Warlords are in his heart and still on his mind.

=====

Re: I am still praying for Warlords 5

Posted by Spiderman - 21 Oct 2017 03:16

I play regularly and read the forums on the weekdays.

I'm sure Warlords is in his heart and probably in the back of his mind, it's just that GoW is taking up almost everything in front and middle.

=====

Re: I am still praying for Warlords 5

Posted by greenkhan - 21 Oct 2017 11:37

I am praying for warlords 5. He must do it before he leaves this planet cause life isnt worth living if you have the ability to make many others happy. It's always about money. I'd love to be part of the process.

=====

Re: I am still praying for Warlords 5

Posted by Samone - 28 Oct 2017 17:49

I hope also Warlords 5. I still play sometimes W4 just like my kids plays also.

=====

Re: I am still praying for Warlords 5

Posted by Vissavald - 30 Oct 2017 05:40

Samone wrote:

I still play sometimes W4 just like my kids plays also.

Hey, KGB, see - I'm not the only human on this planet who still plays Warlords 4!

I mean, the (probable) new patch suggestions are still actual...

=====