

Warlock: Master of the Arcane

Has anyone played or heard about it? It's a new fantasy TBS game from Paradox. I've been keeping an eye on it since it's set in Ardania, the home of Majesty: Fantasy Kingdom sim that was released a decade ago and of which I'm a big fan. It's gotten various comparisons to Masters of Magic, Fantasy General, and Civilization 5 (and 4) and a few posters have mentioned they've played Warlords also. From what I gather, it's kinda similiar to Warlords in that you basically build cities, build armies, and conquer the world - city management and diplomacy is fairly rudimentary.

Anyway, I was wondering if an players here have played it and can do a more accurate comparison to Warlords or just their general impressions of the game.
